Helping Hands: Disabilities In The Workplace

An open-captioned video guide to accommodating disabilities in the workplace.

Through interviews with employers, employees, and accommodations coordinators, the tape demonstrates that many modifications or adaptations can be made simply by using ingenuity or common sense. The video also includes tips for able-bodied employees on how to work effectively with a co-worker who has a disability.

A valuable tool for outreach and education within the business community, for increasing awareness of disability issues among employees, and for empowering those who have disabilities to be active partners in defining and devising accommodations that will help them become an active part of the work force.

Story Of A Check

Each day in North America, millions of dollars exchange hands in the form of cheques. The machinery and human labour required to handle the many transactions that make up these sums are what drive the chequing system. This program takes the viewer through this system from when a cheque is first written to when it is finally processed at the bank.
